Good taste!
Isn't it summed up in "conspicuous inconspicuousness?"
Take Spring overcoats for example.

The oxford grays, faintly self striped or diagonally woven to snap 'em up a little—who could tire of them.

Take Spring suits—the neatest, quietest fabrics are always favorites.

Bound to be, because they're so satisfactory to the wearer and his friends.

Monotonous? How impossible, with so many of the quiet grays relieved by stripes and overplaids of brighter hues.

For livelier tastes—browns, for one thing.

Spring suits, $12 to $20.

Spring overcoats, $15 to $30.

Little things for little boys in a department all their own.
